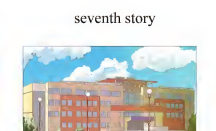
by lee wonjin

seventh story



I always felt like we were connected, even before we met in real life.

Hehe, already hoping to meet me irl?
Me, don't overreact a bit. Show restraint.
But I seriously can't remember

What did we do together in the past?
What did he be?
There must have been some sort of common interest.

Something...
Unlike here, reality is an irritating place.
Adults fight, however they want, and nothing works out the way you want it to.

OH, LOOK WHO'S HERE?
DID YOU COME TO PLAY, JI-HUN?

SWIPE

WHAT DO YOU WANT TO GET SKILLS? I HELP!
NO, IT'LL BE ALRIGHT PROBABLY
SWIPE

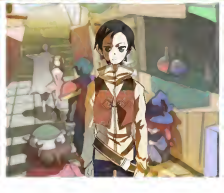
JI-HUN, DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN WE WERE LITTLE?

WE USED TO SAY IT A LOT, ABOUT HOW THIS PLACE IS NO FUN.

THAT THERE MUST BE A MORE FUN WORLD LIKE THOSE IN A MANHWA.

THAT WHEN WE BECOME ADULTS, WE'D WANT TO GO TO THAT WORLD AND LIVE IN ADVENTURE.

SO I'LL INVITE YOU.
WE'RE GOING BACK TO OUR REAL WORLD.



Ding dong ding
HUH?
I HAVEN'T SEEN SUJIN. SO YOU KNOW WHERE SHE WENT?
SHE SAID SHE WAS LEAVING EARLY AND DRAGGED LEE JIHUN WITH HER.
SHE SAID IF I TOLD YOU, YOU'D KNOW WHAT TO DO.
